"Man's Oldest and Most Trusted Feathered Friend!"

National Pigeon Association

Established in 1920, The National Pigeon Association is made up of nearly 2,000 fanciers throughout the United States. The NPA promotes and educates the public in the breeding, nurturing, and improvement of all recognized varieties of the domestic rock dove. In cooperation with our multitude of breed specific specialty clubs, the NPA approves, maintains, and publishes the "NPA Book of Standards." This book is a compilation of basis for how these breeds are judged at our annual NPA Grand National Show and all NPA sanctioned State and District competitions.

Besides our numerous publication on the domestic rock dove, the NPA provides individually identifiable seamless leg bands or rings for all varieties of doves. These one of a kind rings allow us to positively identify each bird raised by our members and facilitates the birds safe return in case it becomes lost.
